Hitler's Policies Subject of Next Discussion Group

Forum Brands Hearst as Menace to Peaceful Japanese Relations

Adolph Hitler and the various aspects of the Fascistic regime will be discussed at the next meeting of the newly formed student and faculty forum to be held this Thursday, May 16, in room 204.

The initial meeting of the forum, whose purpose is to discuss vital problems of today, was held last Thursday May 9, with Robert Carlisle as chairman. The group discussed the policies of William Randolph Hearst as a force in contemporary American life.

The inconsistencies of the Hearst press as shown in editorials and news stories, and the inaccuracies in the news printed were discussed by the group. The changing attitude of the Hearst press with regard to Mexico was another topic touched upon, and the menace of this syndicate to our present relations with Japan was also included.

"The forum," stated Carlisle chairman of Thursday's meeting, "is to serve the purpose of providing for free expression of opinion on any side of the question under discussion. All students and faculty are invited to attend. We hope to make this forum a thing of real worth to those attending."

The group also expressed itself as opposed to a recent statement in the Trail, praising the patriotism of Hearst.

Lane to Head Writers; Club Schedules Outing

At the same meeting Mrs. Ethelyn Miller Hartwich, permanent national officer in the American College Quill club, spoke on the Quill organization and its meaning to the CPS Writers' club. Mrs. Hartwich told of the organization's history, different sub-organizations of "runes," and of some of the activities.

The next meeting of the Writers' club will be an outing on May 20 when the club will celebrate the end of its first year.

By Lois Twaddle

Buried hatchets will rise again. The time-worn hatchet which is supposed to be handed by each graduating Senior class to the succeeding group will appear at the 1935 Senior Day celebration Friday, May 31, for the first time in three years.

Grade Statistics Released Friday

Great Variety Shown in Prof's' Works

In order that students would be able to compare their marks with the general College grade averages for the fall semester, Registrar Christian C. Miller released the following statistics showing the different percentages of A, B, C, D, Inc, K, and F grades given by members of the faculty, departments and college as a unit.

The variation in grading by the faculty ranged from 88.9 to 3.4 percent of A grades. For the whole college the percentage of this grade was 12.9. By departments the range was from 27.2 to 5.8 percent. For the grade of B, there was a range of faculty grading from 55.6 to no percent, the departments varying from 43.9 to 13.3. The percentage of B's given for the school as a whole was 30. As usual C grades received the highest percentages, the faculty giving from 58.4 to no percent, departments grading from 52.7 to 20.6 percent and the average student body percent of C grades receiving 38. In comparison there was a low percentage of D grades, 21.4 to no percent made by the faculty, the departments being between 19.2 and no percent. In the entire student body there was only 9.1 percent of D grades.

Failing marks ranged between 11.4 and no percent as given by the departments, and between 16.7 and no percent in faculty grading, 18 giving no failures. The average of students getting F marks was 3.6. Those receiving K from the faculty were between 7.9 and no percent, from the departments, the same percent, and the average percentage of students being graded K, 1.6. Incomplete marks by the faculty were from 36.6 to no percent, 18 giving no incomplete grades. Departmental grades ranged from 16.6 to no percent, 4.8 percent of the student body receiving incomplete marks.

There was a total of 8,151 credit hours of grades given in the fall semester.

Helen Billett Wins Local Story Contest

"The Tide That Heals the Wounded Sand," written by Miss Helen Billett has been announced as winning first place in the recent story contest and has been entered in the "Story magazine competition with 'Men Think Through Their Feet.'" by Herbert Arntson, which placed second.

A play written by Hartvic Brunn, member of the Writers' club, was one of three to be presented before the Tacoma Drama league.

Sponsors Cake Sale

Miss Edith Coffman is in charge of a cake sale to be sponsored by the Women's Federation next Saturday.

Yearly reports of committees of the Women's Federation were given at the last meeting of the year held Thursday. $3.82 was made on the White Elephant sale which took place last week.

Since 1932, when four men from the present Senior class capped sophomore conquests by securing the hatchet on pretext of photographing it, no numerals have been placed there. The history of these class rivalries may be traced in the sequence of dates on the hatchet, for wherever there is one missing among the inscriptions carved, etched, chiselled and painted on the implement some underclass group has held it away from the seniors.

The hatchet, symbol of Logger power and glory, holds a significant place in traditions of CPS, although few students know of its whole story. The custom was begun back in the 1900's, and is each year the signal for class skirmishes. However, it has been in hiding for three years in spite of an attempt to use a fake hatchet in 1933.

Men who carried off the hatchet from Bursar Charles A. Robbins were Jack Kimball, Nick Zittel, Ray Wall and Bob Carlisle.

Loren Hollenbeck With Radio City Glee Club

Loren Hollenbeck, former pupil of Prof. John Paul Bennett, has recently received a new contract to sing with a men's glee club in New York City. He will be a member of a twenty-four voice glee club in Radio City Music Hall.

The ensemble sings with an orchestra conducted by Dr. Erno Rapee and will be heard in concert in New York City and at various times over the NBC network.

For the last two years Mr. Hollenbeck has been employed as one of the singing leads at the Schubert Wintergarden theater in New York. He was a soloist for the Adelphian Choral society three years ago.

Professor Eichinger To Lead Choir Concert

Prof. Walter A. Eichinger will present Our Savior's Lutheran choir in concert Sunday, May 19, at the Our Savior's Lutheran church. The concert, directed by Professor Eichinger, will start at 8 p. m.

Two CPS students, Von Zanner and June Larsen, are members of the group. In addition to directing, Professor Eichinger will also accompany the vocal selections at the organ.

In one of the final Ski club meetings of the year, Harbine Monroe will show ski pictures Tuesday during chapel period in the science lecture hall. The movies were taken by Monroe and will show scenes of recent skiing events at the mountain.

FERA Work to Last

Student work under the FERA here will run until June 8, according to Dean Raymond G. Drewry. As this last week of school will be crowded with study for final examinations, it is suggested that workers get in their time for that week as early in May as possible. All the time then due may be worked now.

Five Dollar Diploma Fee Now Due, Says Bursar

The regular diploma fee of five dollars is now due and payable at the bursar's office, announced Bursar Charles A. Robbins Friday afternoon. He further requested that all graduating seniors attend to this matter immediately to avoid possibilities of last minute difficulties.

Schlarb, Jr. is a lecturer in sociology at the College and is director of the social and medical survey base map being prepared for Tacoma. Logan is teaching in Puyallup, while Simpson is conducting history classes at Stadium high school.

The final oral examinations were held here Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. Dr. John D. Regester was in charge.

Eight Reels of German Films Will Be Shown

Eight reels of German film will be shown Wednesday noon by the German club in the Howarth Hall of Science through the courtesy of the Hamburg American Line, North German Lloyd.

Pied Piper Is Brought to Life By Playcrafters

Kenneth Powers Leads Cast Of 71 in Four-Act Production

The Pied Piper of Hamelin town was materialized from the mists of medieval legend Friday and Saturday nights at CPS to re-enact the tale of enchantment and revenge which has thrilled the imaginations of children and adults for 600 years. Kenneth Powers, the Piper, assisted by the largest cast ever assembled on the CPS stage, created a character which will long remain in the memories of those who saw him play. The task of staging this ambitious production including costuming, setting, pageantry and music was directed by Miss Martha Pearl Jones.

Maurine Henderson and Betty Simpson in the role of Veronica, mother of the crippled Jan, were equally successful in developing the emotional depth of the role of a forlorn mother as was required by the part. Through her pleadings with the Piper the children were returned after she showed that Hamelin had truly repented.

Romance Entertains

Kathryn Thomas, Clarence Keating and Maurice Webster gave romance to the production by enfolded the love-at-first-sight story of Michael-the-Sword-Eater and Barbara, the daughter of Jacobus.

The scheming Jacobus the Burgomeister was admirably portrayed by William Orr and Clark Gould. Art Linn as Kurt the Councillor developed the role of worldly cynicism in keeping with the part. Bernard Watson as Old Claus with his shrill voice showed real feeling in his interpretation of the aged miser. All three portrayed the avid worship of money characteristic of Hamelin before the children were restored.

Rose Mary Burke and Mildred Brown created Old Ursula, whose inquisitive ear trumpet symbolized her insatiable curiosity.

Takes Juvenile Role

Leonard Raver in his interpretation of Jan, the little crippled boy, created a spiritual atmosphere in his sincere worship of the "Lonely man."

Though their influence in the plot was not vital, Jayne Hall and Mildred Anderson as the wives of Hans (Continued on Page Two)

The Forum - -

A distinct marked progress at the College was recorded last week when the first of a series of open student and faculty forums met to discuss the policies of William Randolph Hearst as an influence on contemporary American life. Those in attendance found an hour of thoughtful discussion, because the group looks keenly into both sides of a problem—it is needless to say that they benefitted.

A recent president of the ASCPS once said, "College students don't want to think." If he based his thoughts on a song, popular in some collegiate circles, which ends "... we all come to college, but we don't come for knowledge! So we'll raise hell while we're here!" he may well have been right. But this forum has proved that there are students in this College who want to think—who are thinking. The forum is nothing new, for other colleges and universities over the country have long had some such discussion group. At George Washington university, for instance, there is a group which calls itself the "Little Congress" and periodically studies the Congressional records, going into thorough discussions of all the major questions. This entails no little amount of research, but those students are glad for the opportunity to enter into such a thing. They are thinking about the real problems of today, and the forum on this Campus is thinking.

This forum, newly organized, and as yet attended by only a dozen or so, must grow—it will grow. More students and faculty members will find out about it and enter into the group. Unfortunately the absence of such meetings as are held by this forum has not been missed at the College because the thought of such a thing, has not occurred to us, but now that we have discovered this "manna," we will push it and keep it a live thing.

Socialize Production?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is printed to present one aspect of present day thinking as interpreted by a CPS student. This carries out the Trail policy of free and open discussion of current affairs.

Because of the pressure of economic conditions, public opinion is swinging more and more rapidly to the idea socializing of the means of production. As the only means of alleviating the present situation.

One necessary step to prevent the revolutionary seizure of all functions of government is the social control of all means of production through a process of evolution. This does not mean abolishing private property and private wealth, it means the increase of private property and private wealth.

Intelligent people are coming more and more to realize that such a program is not only desirable, but an acute necessity to remedy present conditions. Before this great task is undertaken, the public must be educated in order that it can begin without the tragic mistakes of the laissez-faire individualism.

Puget Sound Review

This College Should Have: A social hour or some sort of school harmony that would stir up life. In the afternoons and on Saturdays the College looks like a desert . . . A collection in book form of Prof. Battin's inimitable humor . . . A volume of Mrs. Drushel's discoveries in her research work among sororities and fraternities about what boys and girls like about each other . . . More school affairs like the Senior Ball. They afford some place to go where students can get together . . . More people who can act natural instead of being so boringly artificial . . . More people who can mind their own business. People usually worry more about your private affairs than you do yourself . . . A torture chamber for people who are always borrowing things . . . More understanding faculty minds like President Todd's.

Last Week's Funny People: Howie Richardson is very anxious to meet Helen Davies but it seems that she's telling it to a marine. Nevertheless, be bold, Howie, sweep her off her feet! Don't forget, "faint heart ne'er won fair lady" . . . When Howie Hass visited Eunice Perkins at the Hospital he forgot her room number and ended up in the maternity ward . . . Lois Andre, the Fife smallness, and George Duncan, the Hoopla debutante, are succumbing to what a young man's fancy turns to in the Springtime . . . Sure signs of Spring: Boys in golf-knickers and people waiting for their turn on the tennis courts.

I Could Never be the Same: Barbara Beardsley, the Omicron "next door neighbor," has exhausted the supply of Omicrons and is now starting in on the alumni . . . Hyah Tollefson was a dynamic auctioneer last week. He barked so well he sold one 15 cent item for 60 cents . . . People to imitate: The choice of hats by Eleanor Davies are a great relief from the current run of gal's hats which are too much like sun baskets . . . The Tamanawas ought to have a swell snapshot section this year judging from the way Harbine Monroe runs around here with his trusty camera.

Collegiate Collections: Warning! Don't ask Walt Piper the difference between a horse with a sore neck and next Tuesday because he's liable to tell you the answer . . . If the student chapel performers want to extinguish the source of all the penny-throwing and the Bronx cheers, they'll have to contend with the rascally Delta Kappas who are under the direction of Scott Huston . . . Summary of the Lettermen's picnic: Ralph Dungan, Ted Warwick, Ted Jensen and Brandt Bede reported that they had flat tires on the way back from Lake Wilderness, which leaves them wide open for quite a few wisecracks delivered in the Jess Dawkins manner, if you know what I mean . . . Mel Miller and Frank Plouf created a gentlemen's agreement and decided to exchange gal friends. Margaret Lilly taking her place at Mel Miller's side and Crystal Krueger coming under the able care of Plouf . . . Coke McConnell stole a string of weiners from a neighboring high school picnic, the big bully!

A Reporter's Notebook: Thanks, Maurice "Hop Gold" Webster for your reference to this pillar in student chapel Thursday. As for your program, I think it was one of the best presented for a long time but Clarence "Mike" Mykland walked off with top honors . . . Alexander Woolcott's "While Rome Burns" was a disappointment. By writing it, he wasted his time and yours . . . If anybody mails us anymore of those consarned chain letters we're going to challenge them to a duel.

Tail-lights: Owen "Flash" Gallagher and Lorraine Hanson, and Ruston smelters, are cooing into each others ears . . . Jean Durkee came to me last week and told me that if I found out that John Milroy refused to ride in her car to please not print it. Okay, Jean, I won't . . . Jo Ann Grant and Carl Eshelmann, both having strayed from the path of happiness, are back together again . . . Helen Stalwick is the gleam in Howie Rickett's eye . . . Alice Russell's name has been in this column almost every week, and far be it from us to leave it out this week.

Last Home Track Meet Slated for Saturday Afternoon

Sigma Zetas Again Take Mural Outdoor Soft-Ball Championship

Sigma Zeta Epsilon's soft-ball team captured hard-fought contests from Sigma Mu Chi and Delta Kappa Phi squads last week to complete its schedule undefeated and retain the intramural soft-ball championship.

A five-run rally in the last inning of the final game Thursday saved the Zetas from defeat at the hands of the Delta Kapps and prevented a tie between these two teams for the title. Trailing 3 to 2 as the seventh frame opened, the Zetas batted through their entire lineup after the first two batters had flied out. The Delta Kapps were unable to score in their half of the inning and the Zetas won by a 7 to 3 margin.

The Mu Chis, also bidding for a tie for the season crown, forced their tilt with the Zetas to ten innings, the longest game of this year's play, before bowing to a three-run Zete uprising, giving the latter a 5 to 2 victory. The Mu Chis tallied early in the first inning to take an early lead, but the Zetas evened the count in the sixth and forced the contest into extra innings.

The Chi Nus also annexed their last two encounters last week, giving them three consecutive victories and fourth place in the final standings. They ran wild against the Delta Kapps Tuesday to score a one-sided 20 to 2 win, tallying in every inning but the second and driving in nine counters in the final frame. Their second victims of the week were the Omicrons, whom they downed by a 10 to 4 score.

The Omicrons checked in their second victory of the season Tuesday when they swamped the Peter Pugets, 18 to 8. The winners were scoreless in only one inning, the third, while the losers brought in six of their tallies in the fifth session.

RHODES BROTHERS

By Jack Burns

Bursar Charles H. Robbins took medalist honors for the faculty members who played golf on the Lettermen's picnic held at Lake Wilderness last Wednesday. Howie Hass took honors in this event for the felt winners.

Em Piper, another letterman, also sparkled in the golf tournament held at the picnic, by copping the hidden-hole tournament and also tied for low gross score.

Coach Roy Sandberg demonstrated his wares as a horseshoe flinger, much to the amusement of those who attended the picnic. Much of the success of the picnic is due to Jim Ennis who worked hard to put the affair over in fine style. Jim is the president of the lettermen's organization.

Maurine Henderson, that flaming red head, is reported to have defeated her escort Bruce Hetrick in a golf match—which goes to prove that all the athletes don't belong to the lettermen's club. It was Maurine's first attempt at the game.

Jean Hartman is reported to be the cream of the women archery shooters. She has the best performance for consistency and accuracy.

Howie Richardson is the latest "find" among the CPS tracksters. In that Bellingham and Ellensburg three-way meet he surprised every one by finishing a close second in a fast two mile race. By the time the conference meet rolls around he should be able to give a fine account of himself in this event.

Louie Staples was injured in the Bellingham baseball series, and as a result the big chucker was on the shelf this past week. We all hope Louie makes a speedy recovery.

A high wind caused a miniature dust storm on the Logger ball field last week, hampering baseball practice. Jess Brooks, Frank Plouf, Erling Tollefson are the most consistent batsmen on the CPS varsity.

Frank Plouf and Jess Brooks hit home runs during the recent games at Bellingham and as a result were given a free Italian dinner (spaghetti and ravioli deluxe), by a Bellingham hash house.

To Hold Installation

Members of Chi chapter, Kappa Phi, national Methodist women's organization, will hold their annual installation of officers at the Epworth church next Monday evening, under the direction of Miss Eunice Allen, president. Initiation will also take place.

Plans were made at the meeting held last week for the national convention to be held at Lake Bemidji, Minnesota.

"U" of Portland Divides Baseball Series With CPS

Loggers Win First Game Easily; Take Early Lead In Second Contest

Coach Roy Sandberg's College of Puget Sound's baseball club broke even in its annual series with the University of Portland nine over the weekend. The Loggers annexed the first contest Friday by a score of 8 to 2, while Coach Gene Murphy's men staged a reversal of form to swamp the Lumberjack's 15 to 4 in Saturday's contest on the Loggers' diamond.

Pitchers Battle

Friday's game started out to be a battle between the two rival pitchers Otto Smith of Puget Sound and Doran of the visitors, both teams being able to push across only one counter until the sixth canto when the Portland team's defense went to pieces and Sandberg's men scored four runs to put the game on ice.

CPS was also aided by Doran the Portland pitcher, because he walked ten batters during the contest, while on the other hand Smith held the visitors to seven scattered hits and pitched himself out of a couple of holes during the game. The Loggers garnered nine bingles off of Doran with Jess Brooks, Frank Plouf and Ernie Dzurich each getting two.

CPS Takes Lead

Saturday's fracas saw the Loggers get off to a flying start by nicking Bill Hatch ace portside flinger of the Portland team for four runs. Erling Tollefson able CPS first sacker playing the important part in the scoring by smashing a line drive to deep center field for a home run with two mates on the bags. This was all of the Loggers scoring for the day, although they threatened to do so at various other times but Hatch managed to keep the situation well in hand.

The Logger team on the other hand, practically gave the visitors the ball game by making 10 errors during the contest, although the Portland nine did reach Larry Ragan CPS starting hurler and his successor Jack Strickland for 18 clean hits. CPS got a total of eight during the game, three of them going to Frank Plouf.

McGinnis Stars

McGinnis, hard hitting short-patcher led the Portland team at the plate in both games getting two base hits Friday and four Saturday. Hatch also hit well Saturday by getting three bingles.

Earl Sheely former star major league ball player was in the stands during Saturday's tilt to scout the work of Hatch who is regarded as an outstanding prospect for some professional team. Sheely is scout for the Boston Red sox of the American league.

The Logger ball team will leave Thursday of this week for a tour of Oregon where the Loggers will engage in conference games with Willamette and Pacific.

Whitman Track Team to Clash With Loggers

Bobby Graham, Flashy Sprint Man, Will Be Invaders Mainstay

Led by Bobby Graham, speedy dash man, the Whitman college track squad and last year's conference champs, will invade Tacoma next Saturday afternoon to tackle the CPS team in a dual meet. In time trials last week Graham stepped the 100-yard dash in .09.8 seconds and the 220-yard event in 21.5.

Robinson Shot-Putter

Besides Graham in the dashes the Missionaries will be strongly represented in the other events in the meet. Al Robinson is expected to give Roy Carlson, Logger star, plenty to worry about in the shot-put as he tosses the big ball around 45 feet.

Good High-Jumper

The Missionaries have two outstanding high-jumpers in Ralph Hurtle and Harold Nelson while Pat Lynch and Cecil Meyers Whitman pole-vaulters have both cleared 12 feet, according to advance dope.

Chances for a CPS victory will largely rest on shoulders of Roy Carlson, Bob Forbing, Doug Gonyea, Coke McConnell, Clam Johnson and Henry Magnussen in the weight and field events.

Allen, Gius Sprinters

In the 100 and 220 the Loggers will enter Marsh Allen and Bob Gius, both of whom should place.

Em Piper and Allen are slated to go over the hurdles for Puget Sound. Mark Whitman, Bob Russell, Howie Richardson and Keith Schneider will enter the middle distance and the longer runs for the Loggers.
